One block north of my house, built 1912.

Photo by Joe Mabel, Wikimedia Commons
Meanwhile, one block west, 4 blocks north…

Photo, University of Washington Civil Rights and Labor History Project, Aaron Dixon Collection, photographer unidentified
Black Panther Headquarters, Seattle Chapter

Photographer unidentified
Madrona, 1970

Percentages
African American Population
Block Level Data

- Black: 75-100%
- Gray: 50-74%
- Light gray: 25-49%
- Lighter gray: 1-24%
- White: < 1%

From David Hodge, in Laska And Spain, eds, Back to the City, Issues in Neighborhood Renovation, 1980
425 35th Ave, 1962-1978
Carving into the Cloud of Unremembering

Process & product values of creating maps, spreadsheets, and data vis.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Process</th>
<th>reflection, research</th>
<th>Product</th>
<th>reflection, research</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Deepens &amp; Broadens Memory</td>
<td>Insight, new ways of seeing</td>
<td>Deepens &amp; Broadens Memory</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Data pts vs. Narration - Less charged, Easier to include more</td>
<td>Reveal gaps &amp; patterns</td>
<td>Enriches experience of experience</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Can be remembered out of sequence, spreadsheet can reorder</td>
<td>Produce cognitive dissonance</td>
<td>Enriches understanding of experiences</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Value Value Value Value
Enhancing Memory

By Digital Means

Brett Bodemer
Cal Poly San Luis Obispo
bbodemer@calpoly.edu

CNI December 10 2018
Questions?