

Public Access to Research Data

A conversation with:

Kacy Redd, Assistant Vice President of
STEM Education Policy, APLU

Katie Steen, Policy Associate, AAU

Tyler Walters, Dean, University Libraries,
Virginia Tech

Context

- Key developments over the course of the year reflecting international and national pushes to advancing open science
 - USA
 - AAU/APLU recommendations
 - Open Science by Design
 - AAU/APLU Workshop
 - National Academies Roundtables
 - Open Science 2020 EU
 - OA2020
 - PlanS

Question 1

Given the AAU/AUPL workshop and other initiatives to support institutional collaborations:

- What are the primary opportunities?
- What advice would you give to institutions looking to make progress?

Question 2

- Where do you see the biggest needs and challenges in institutional optimization?
 - What are the most important opportunities to address now?

Question 3

- What are the AAU/APLU workshop next steps?
 - What should this audience be doing in their institutions to advance the recommendations?

Discussion – Starting With:

What could AAU, APLU and ARL do to help you move forward?

Resource Links

AAU-APLU Public Access Working Group Report and Recommendations

<https://www.aau.edu/key-issues/aau-aplu-public-access-working-group-report-and-recommendations>

National Academies Open Science By Design

<https://www.nap.edu/>

PlanS

<https://www.coalition-s.org/>

ARL Policy Notes on Potential Next Steps

<http://policynotes.arl.org/?p=1751>

Thank You

Kacy Redd

kredd@aplu.org

Katie Steen

Katie.Steen@aau.org

Tyler Walters

Tyler.walters@vt.edu

Mary Lee Kennedy

mkenedy@arl.org