Modern Endangered Archives Program

The Modern Endangered Archives Program (MEAP) is a new UCLA Library granting program.

We fund projects to digitize and make accessible endangered archival materials from the 20th and 21st Centuries, including print, photographic, film, audio, ephemeral, and born digital objects.
Program Ambitions

MEAP supports projects to organize, collect, convert and describe archival material or existing digital assets.

All MEAP content must be shared openly online
Survey, Inventory, Digital Images, Audio files, Video

Copyright | Contemporary materials will likely be under copyright. Copyright ownership for the recording may not cover ownership of underlying content (ie. Song recorded at a concert)

Privacy + Ethics | Collections that document individuals, especially photos and videos must account for individual consent and permission