LIBRARIAN

CONSULTANT

DECEMBER 8, 2014

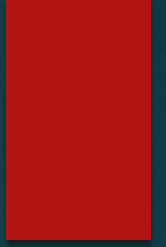

Opening Thoughts

- ▶ The privacy that libraries and librarians have worked hard at providing users with in the print-only age is not at the level it should be in the digital age
- ▶ This needs to change
- ▶ Awareness, discussion, and education is where to begin

Opening Thoughts 2

- ▶ It is not a zero-sum game
- ▶ Libraries, librarians, and the vendors we work with can and should do more
- ▶ Improving privacy does NOT mean we have to stop doing what we do

Opening Thoughts 3

- ▶ If a commercial web site for documents and ebooks can provide better encryption/privacy, why can't libraries?
- ▶ Example: Scribd

Opening Thoughts 4

- ▶ Other countries also are doing more
- ▶ For example, in the UK and elsewhere in Europe
- ▶ Bodleian Library web page explaining cookies
- ▶ Government mandate or not, North American libraries need to do more

Live Demo

- ▶ Tools Used (at a Basic Level)
 - ▶ WireShark
 - ▶ Cookie Cadger (Developed by a Iowa St. University Grad Student)
 - ▶ LightBeam
